

CHILD KILLED BY AUTOMOBILE

SOUTHERN CROSS SPANS ATLANTIC

'ROUND 'N' 'ROUND

The Lindbergh's are being overwhelmed with messages of congratulations by the whole world.

And the press of the nation has united in giving the gasping public every one of the details about papa and mamma Lindbergh.

We can easily see that the child is one of the luckiest kids in the world.

Ask any average 4-year-old Richmond boy and he'd readily exchange places with the Lindbergh son.

Just think of the fun of being Lindbergh's son and heir.

First birthday the child would get a fast Boeing bi-plane as a present.

Next birthday a tri-motored Fokker job.

On the third birthday he'll probably hop over the bathtub or the swimming pool.

On the fourth you can expect him to fall in love with the neighbor's daughter and refuse to be quoted by the press on anything except aviation.

One can imagine the baby being taken out for an airing in his perambulator by his nurse.

An eager squad of newspapermen asks.

The child raises a naughty eyebrow and replies, "I'm sorry, but I can't tell you. But I'm willing to answer any questions about aviation."

And the newspapers will break out in headlines: "Baby Lindbergh Off From Home In Go-Cart. Destination not revealed."

A second extra will appear on the streets an hour later, carrying the following lead story:

"At 1:15 Baby Lindbergh landed at his home after a record breaking flight to Forty-second avenue and back in his new model go-cart. His time was one hour, 42 minutes and 32 and one half seconds."

"His new model speed cart was propelled by Miss Mary Jones, a pretty nurse."

"Baby Lindbergh refused to make any comment upon the flight, other than that half-way between Forty-second street and home his fuel supply of milk ran out and it was feared that a forced landing would have to be made. However, the nurse found his pacifier in the bottom of the cart and Young Lindbergh seemed perfectly satisfied."

"The daring youth would not announce his next flight. It is understood, however, that his pilot, Miss Jones, has been ordered to keep herself in readiness for another flight at any time."

And when the child is just in the teething age, we can expect to read the following:

"Lindy Walks Floor All Night With Babe."

And so on the second day, and the third day and the fourth day, and a week later we'll read the same headlines.

And a few days more we'll read extras: "Lindbergh hops off for North Pole. To return when Baby's Teething is finished."

We could go on all day like this—but we won't.

CAR DRIVER WILL FACE CHARGES

Struck by an automobile on San Pablo avenue near McBryde avenue, little William Cinko, six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Cinko, 960 McLaughlin avenue, died at the Hospital Richmond last night.

Aksel Lambrecht, 100 Ninth street, Oakland, the driver of the car, was released on $2000 bail bond last night, by order of Justice of the Peace Arthur Alstrom. He is facing a technical charge of manslaughter.

The boy had been playing on the street during the twilight hour and was returning home when he was struck by the Lambrecht car, police reported.

Could Not Stop
Lambrecht told police that the child ran directly into the path of his machine and that he could not stop the car in time to avoid the crash. Lambrecht was driving towards Oakland when the accident happened.

The boy was taken to the Hospital Richmond where he died a few minutes later. Death was believed to have been due to a fractured skull and possible internal injuries.

The body was removed to the Wilson and Kratzer mortuary. A coroner's inquest is pending.

Lambrecht was taken to the city jail where he was booked on the technical charges.

Companions Freed
With Lambrecht were John Tuna and Vera Messenger, both of the same address given by the driver. They substantiated the driver's statements given to the police. The two were released by police.

Leaves Parents
Capt. L. E. Jones, of the local police department is conducting an investigation into the crash.

The child is survived by his parents and two sisters, Eleanor and Jeanne.

Funeral services are pending at the Wilson and Kratzer chapel.

MRS. BERRI TELLS STORY OF RUM RAID

SAN FRANCISCO, June 24.—UP—After an examination prolonged by repeated questions on the same subject, Mrs. Grace Berri, who recently escaped death when Melville Sturtevant was killed in Marin county, completed her testimony in the trial of Clinton Mason, Charles Gruver, Sr., and others accused of violating prohibition laws, here tonight.

A high-light of Mrs. Berri's testimony was her admission as a witness that she had once donned men's clothing and participated with Sturtevant and "another man" in a hi-jacking raid.

Mrs. Berri was taken into court in a wheel chair. She was often prompted to speak louder, but she showed hardly any ill-affect from the bullet wound that entered her chest at the time Sturtevant, a star government witness in the first trial of Mason and Gruver, was fatally wounded.

She identified Mason and Gruver as men she had seen with her husband, Arnold Berri, wealthy rancher, on whose place a still was raided, according to the government.

Concord Airport Will Be Redeemed

MARTINEZ, June 24.—W. T. McNulty today purchased for $10,000 the right to redeem the Concord airport property which contains 132 acres, at a sheriff's sale at the court house today.

The property was brought by Lars Olson recently on foreclosure of a mortgage suit for $25,000.

McNulty can now sell the property for the $24,000 with which to pay Olson, it is said, or he can pay the amount and become the owner of the property.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 24.—UP—Father S. P. Driscoll of St. Dominic's church, was fired upon in his study today but the shot went wild.

Police arrested Arthur Townley, said to be a former priest who was unfrocked two years ago, and questioned him.

Townley, they said, claimed the shot was fired accidentally when Father Driscoll closed a door on his hand.

Police learned from Father Driscoll that Townley had requested money from him. As Father Driscoll stepped from the room the shot was fired, he claimed.

VETERANS BILL FACES DEFEAT

WASHINGTON, June 24.—UP—President Hoover tonight won a pledge of the defeat of the World War veterans' bill which he bitterly opposed in a militant statement today.

After a three hour caucus, votes of 154 Republican house members were pledged to support the president's expected veto of the bill. This is more than the one-third necessary to prevent the house from overriding the veto.

The pledge was made under an absolute understanding that a substitute straight out pension bill for disabled World War veterans—the first pension measure for this war—will be passed before congress adjourns.

The program is to pass the bill as amended by the senate tomorrow an dissent it to the White House for immediate veto.

The house will vote first on the veto, probably late this week, and thereupon, within 40 minutes as Rep. Strong, Repn. Kan., said, the new bill will be introduced under suspension of the rules and passed and sent to the senate for similar action. There is no question in house leaders' minds but that the president will sign such a bill.

SANTA MONICA, June 24.—UP—The body of J. K. Kamama, found floating in the kelp beds off Topanga canyon near here late today, is believed to be that of the last of the victims of the Memorial Day tragedy in which the fishing boat Ameco sank with an estimated 16 aboard.

CHICAGO PLANE NEARS RECORD ON LONG HOP

CHICAGO, June 24.—UP—The four Hunter boys, two of whom have been flying around and around in circles since last week, announced tonight that it won't be difficult at all for them to break the world's record for sustained flight.

If they and their plane last night next Sunday morning, the record of 421 hours will have been broken and John and Kenneth Hunter will get some sleep and some more or less enduring fame.

Walter and Albert, the other two brothers, are manning the refueling plane, meanwhile, and issuing bulletins to the citizens who have been watching the flight around Sky Harbor airport for the last 13 days.

The last bulletin, attested by Walter and Albert, said that the ship, City of Chicago, was working even better than ever.

"Unless we wreck it trying to give her gasoline," said Walter while Albert nodded agreement, "We'll bust that record in two."

John and Kenneth were pretty tired and sleepy after 13 days of guiding their plane around the field, said they in notes, but they added that they fully planned to enter the Hunter family in the hall of fame by keeping the big ship in the air at least until next Monday.

"X X X and maybe until the Fourth of July," added one of the notes, "unless we or the plane crack up."

They had been up 314 hours at 5:40 p. m. C. D. T. today. They will break the record of the St. Louis Robin if they stick it out until 5:29 a. m. Monday.

Escaped Convict Believed Drowned

SAN FRANCISCO, June 24.—UP—Failure of a long search along the Marin, Alameda and San Francisco shorelines to reveal any trace of Jack Allen, 23, prisoner who escaped from Alcatraz Island military prison last night, caused authorities to express the belief that the man had drowned.

Allen's clothes were found on the island, and the presence of grease in his pocket led to the belief that he had used a coating of the substance to protect himself from the icy waters of the bay.

ONE DEAD IN NEBRASKA TORNADO

LEXINGTON, Neb., June 24.—UP—A devastating tornado ripped through central Nebraska early this evening, striking four small towns and cutting a strip from a half mile to a mile in width extending over a 40 mile front.

One man was reported killed at Darr, small central Nebraska town, and at the same point others were reported injured.

The wind struck here early this evening, passing over swiftly to gain tornado strength when it reached Cozad. Gothenburg and Darr. Gothenburg was severely damaged, reports said.

The tornado crossed the Platte river above Cozad and then leaped 15 miles south to strike the town of Darr. Holdrege, nearby, felt the effects of the storm, reports said.

Information regarding extent of damage and the names of the dead and injured could not be had as a majority of telephone and telegraph lines had been torn down.

The storm center was valuable farm properties and early reports indicated many farm homes had been wiped out by the storm.

The appellate court previously reversed the conviction of Schumann-Heink and ordered a new trial in which he was again convicted and placed on five years' probation.

He then appealed to the higher court.

PLANE MAY LAND TODAY AT N. Y.

NEW YORK, June 25 (Wednesday) The grey Atlantic behind the monoplane Southern Cross was reported at 12:30 (EST) today to have passed the North American coast line over Cape Race, Newfoundland and to be roaring down the edge of the Atlantic over Nova Scotia toward New York.

After hours of static interference the plane on its flight from Ireland established contact early this morning with Cape Race radio station. Soon afterward it was reported from Cape Race that the plane had passed that point about 12:15 and was believed speeding westward, flying high to get above the heavy fog in its path.

The wind was light and coming from the southwest. It was warm. Showers of rain that had caused bad atmospheric conditions during the evening had ceased.

It was hoped that dawn might find the plane—already veteran of the first and only direct trans-Pacific flight—speeding at 100 miles an hour toward its objective—Old Roosevelt Field No. 1, near New York city.

At Portland, Me., a refueling plane was awaiting the Southern Cross. (Continued on Page 8)

RHODES FREE OF CHARGES

Charges against L. L. Rhodes, 640 Tenth street, Ada Gibbs of Antioch, Emily Byrd of Brentwood and Manuel Barrell of Antioch in Oakland yesterday were dismissed.

The four were arrested upon the complaint of J. H. McTigh, of Oakland, who alleged that the four robbed him of $20 when he was stopped along the Livermore highway.

Investigation revealed that Rhodes and his party, enroute to Livermore, passed McTigh stalled on the highway. They stopped and asked him if he needed aid. He declared that he was broken down and needed a tow. Unable to aid him, the Rhodes party asked him if he needed money to pay for being towed in. McTigh declared he had plenty of money.

Rhodes said that he and his party drove on. A few miles later they ran out of gasoline and parked along the highway, waiting for help. It was then that two state traffic officers arrested them on the robbery charges.

After an investigation, the party was released without hearing.

Rhodes alleged that McTigh was intoxicated and that the money he said was missing had evidently been taken by the person who sold him the drinks.

Rhodes is a local washing machine company representative.

S. O. Diamond
Players Fail
To Appear

The diamond athletes of the Standard Oil plant as usual failed to appear yesterday afternoon in time to participate in Richmond City Twilight league competition.

This time the Native Sons were the lucky boys. They were thereby enabled to jump into second place in the league ladder without any exertion whatsoever.

The Standard Oil outfit has formed the habit of neglecting to appear at 5:15 o'clock on the Richmond Union high school. The habit has become very opportune for the other five teams in the league. A free ball game is rather a fortunate occurrence, especially if you are near the top of the pile.

The next City Twilight league game will be fought between the Odd Fellows and the Mechanics Friday afternoon. If the Odd Fellows come out on top in this scrimmage they will be tied for league leadership with the Firemen. The Mechanics Bank although a fairly fast outfit has had bad luck this season, and they will probably have a hard battle to fight against the quick stepping linkers.

ADEQUATE STREETS, ROADS
HELD ACCIDENT PREVENTION

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 24.—Narrow roads and motor vehicle accidents in many instances go hand in hand, according to the findings of the third national conference on Street and Highway Safety.

Many of the hard surface roads in use today were built to handle the volume of traffic of ten or more years ago, and before the use of wide buses and freight carrying trucks became so general. The conference favors the widening of these roads as a means of increasing their safety, meeting the traffic demand and reducing the hazard of accident.

In an effort to look forward to the traffic conditions which may reasonably be expected in ten or more years from the increase in automobiles and motor vehicles, the conference points out that the rapid growth in the use of motor vehicles has already imposed a demand on the existing streets and roads that in many cases exceeds or threatens to exceed their capacity.

Recommendations

In offering a solution for this problem, the third national conference on Street and Highway Safety made the following recommendations in regard to safety requirements in the construction of streets and highways:

There should be:

1. Adequate roadway width for the traffic, with separate footways along highways with heavy vehicular and pedestrian traffic, and adequate rights of way to provide for parking space, clear view at curves and intersections, and future roadway widenings.

New Grades

"2. Space for parking off the traveled portion of rural highways, either continuously, or at intervals not exceeding 300 feet.

"3. Reasonable grades of not more than six percent where feasible, and curves of not less than 300 feet radius, on highways of primary importance, with widening and banking curves.

"4. Avoidance of combinations of heavy grades and sharp curves.

"5. Cross sections of the pavement or roadway as flat as drainage conditions will permit.

Guard Rails

"6. Guard railings of substantial type on the shoulder of embankments.

"7. Clear view of approaching vehicles for at least 500 feet on highways of primary importance, provided by necessary control of private advertising signs on the right of way or on private property near the highway, and by removing the trees, shrubs and sloping banks on or off the right of way, and cutting down sharp hill-crests.

"8. Bridges at least 22 feet wide to enable two lines of traffic to pass without difficulty, and suitable provision for the safety of pedestrians on such bridges.

"9. Careful selection and wide marking of detours, with their maintenance in safe condition, and the prompt removal of obsolete detour or temporary construction signs.

Lights Needed

"10. Maintenance in good condition of pavements and roadway shoulders.

"11. Prompt removal of snow from streets and highways of heavy traffic.

"12. Proper illumination of city streets and of highways wherever financially practicable.

Adequate and ample protection of highway intersections is deemed by the third national conference on Street and Highway Safety to be one of the most important phases of assuring the safety of the roads and reducing and forestalling accidents and vehicle mishaps.

Hazards Shown

Not only should the physical hazards be removed, in the view of the Conference, but special protective measures, such as signs and markings, should be installed. These signs and markings, the conference urges, should be uniform in every state and on every highway.

The hazard at highway intersections, in the opinion of the conference, is such as to require the same safety measures and precautions as are taken in respect to railway grade crossings.

The special protective measures and safeguards at highway intersections in the way of standard fixed signs and markings, the conference declares, should be as follows:

New Signs

1. Advance warning signs in the form of standard "cross road" or "side road" signs at approaches to highway intersections where the crossings would not otherwise be readily recognized, or where there is a hazard that is not otherwise obvious; also, center line markings on roadways of heavy traffic, and lane markings on wide roadways.

2. At points nearer the intersection 20-mile speed signs where the view is obstructed, or other special hazard exists; and the highway is not protected against crossing traffic by stop signs and stop signs at the entrance to through highways; also, where these signs cannot be seen sufficiently in advance the placement of standard slow signs, and with pavement markings, if necessary, to supplement them.

3. Short directional lines on the pavement with arrow to indicate direction, or suitable traffic markers or buttons to direct the movement of traffic within the intersection.

Signals Needed

Where the traffic is dense on both of the highways at an intersection, the conference believes that unless grade separation is economically practical, there should be stop-and-go control of traffic by automatic lights or by traffic officers.

Where the traffic is dense on one road and light on the other, the conference believes that traffic actuated controls afford a practical means of avoiding excessive interruption of the travel on the main thoroughfare, or undue delay of traffic on the smaller road.

The conference gives voice to the caution that public authorities should give careful study to traffic conditions at a given point in deciding upon installations of control apparatus to the end of avoiding waste in funds and undue handicaps in the movement of vehicles.

Thompson Says
He Will Stop
Young Corbett

SAN FRANCISCO, June 24.—"Young" Jack Thompson, welterweight champion of the world could have accepted two or three bouts in the east with minor opponents and collected as much money for them as he will receive for his coming clash with "Young" Corbett, Fresno contender, at Ewing field here on the Fourth of July.

But Thompson, according to Ray Alvis, his manager, is more concerned with erasing an old defeat in his record put there by Corbett than he is with the money end of the bargain.

"Jack told me he will stop Corbett," said Alvis upon his arrival here last Saturday, "and that's the reason I took the match. As a manager I'm usually cautious and give considerable thought to whatever a fighter of mine thinks of a rival, but in the case of Thompson I never hesitate to accept his suggestions.

"Therefore, when he told me to take the Corbett match I did not waste any time in coming to terms with Frank Schuler, who is promoting the bout.

"Fans will see a different Thompson in the ring with Corbett from the one who appeared here a year or so ago. Jack was a slick boy then, but now he is in perfect health. He has no worries either."

The Negro flash will probably start training Wednesday or Thursday. He arrived this morning, and was undecided whether or not to rest up a couple of days before starting the heavy work.

Corbett has been in training since last Saturday. He boxed several rounds on the opening day of his camp at South San Francisco, and has not missed a session since.

NELL MCGREW, S. CARPENTER, MARRIED HERE

At one of the most beautiful of June weddings, Miss Nell McGrew became the bride of Stanley Carpenter last night at an impressive ceremony held in the First Presbyterian church.

Rev. A. A. Pratt officiated under an arch of greens and flowers, which formed an artistic setting for the exchange of nuptial vows.

The wedding was one of the largest of the year, and was witnessed by over 300 guests.

The bride was charming in a beautiful gown of white satin, modeled in flowing lines. Her long tulle veil hung from a crown of silver. Gardenias and lilies of the valley formed her shower bouquet.

Miss Mary Olney, her maid of honor, was attractively gowned in yellow tulle. Her bouquet was of soft pink roses.

Miss Alice Bagley, Charlotte Eggers, Anna Thompson and Virginia Carpenter served as maids of honor.

Two of the girls wore frocks of green tulle with which they carried lavender sweet peas and babies' breath. The other two were charmingly gowned in lavender tulle, patterned in the same style. They carried bouquets of pink sweet peas and babies' breath.

Miss Lois McKenna served as the flower girl.

Willard Carpenter was the best man for his brother, Thomas Stuart, Grant E. McGrew, Everett Ellis and Karl Heinle acted as ushers.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. George Clark presented "At Dawning" and "Because" as vocal numbers.

An organ solo "I Love You Truly" was also offered and the bridal party entered to the strains of the wedding march.

An informal reception, held in the church parlors, followed the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. G. McGrew of South Forty-third street. She is a member of the teaching force of the Roosevelt Junior high school and a graduate of the University of California.

Carpenter, a graduate of the University, is the son of Mrs. Nellie Carpenter, of Oakley. He arrived some time ago from Dayton, Ohio, where he is engaged as an aeronautical engineer at the Wright flying field.

Mr. and Mrs. Carpenter are to leave July 1 on their wedding tour, which will take them thru Portland and on to Yellowstone National Park. They will make their home in Dayton, Ohio.

FAT MAN Walks Ten Miles

"I don't care how fat you are or how much you hate to get out and walk a couple of miles.

If you will take one half a teaspoon of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water every morning for 30 days.

You will feel so good—so energetic and the urge for activity will be so great that you will immensely enjoy a daily walk of several miles—and lose fat.

Why will Kruschen Salts make this great change for the better in me—it is natural for you to ask.

Because Kruschen is a blend of the 6 vitalizing salts Nature says your body must have to keep every organ, gland and nerve in the body buoyantly healthy.

While you are losing fat you will be gaining in energy—in endurance—in ambition. Your skin will grow clearer and your eyes will sparkle with the good health that Kruschen brings.

Just try one 85c bottle of Kruschen Salts; it will last you 30 days. After you have taken one bottle the old arm chair won't hold you any more—you'll want to be up and doing—you'll enjoy work and active recreation and you'll sleep like a top.

You'll lose fat and probably live years longer. Get Kruschen at any live druggists in America.

WRECKAGE OF MAIL PLANE FOUND

CEDAR CITY, Utah, June 24.—UP—Belief that the body of Maury Graham, missing air mail pilot, whose plane was found 12 miles from here, would be found, spurred preparations tonight for an extensive search to start tomorrow morning.

The appearance of the plane wreckage indicated the craft landed in about eight feet of snow. Although smashed, it was not believed the plane crashed hard enough necessarily to kill the pilot.

Searchers will work on the theory that Graham was not seriously injured and that he left the damaged craft and tried to reach some habitation.

It is thought that deep snow probably prevented his progress, especially if he was injured and that he collapsed trying to break his way through the drift.

The country in the vicinity where the plane wreckage was found is extremely rough.

PILOTS WILL IDENTIFY PLANE

LOS ANGELES, June 24.—UP—Western Air express tonight received word from H. Lutz, postmaster at Cedar City, Utah that the mail plane of Maury Graham had been found on a mountain peak 12 miles from the town.

The postmaster said the discovery was made by Ward Mortenson, and Elborn O. Roton, sheep herders who found no trace of the pilot.

An open parachute and some clothing, believed to belong to Graham were found in the plane.

Western Air Express officials said they were informed that the mail compartment was intact. They also said that the description of the parachute was the same as the one Graham carried when he went on his last mail run from here last January 10.

Sheriff John Leigh, Jim Stacey, aviator for an oil company and several other men left Cedar City tonight to make a complete identification it was announced.

In addition Western Air Express had two pilots, Jimmy Jones and Fred Kelly No. 1, ready to leave by plane from Los Angeles.

Postal Inspector E. D. Smith, was to accompany them.

School Bond Indebtedness Of C. C. Told

LOS ANGELES, June 24.—Total bonded indebtedness of the high school districts of Contra Costa county was $1,747,000 in 1923-1924. This was an increase of $103,000 over the bonded debt of 1922-1923, according to a study of the bonded debt of California counties' school districts completed by California Taxpayers' association.

The bonded debt per pupil in average daily attendance in the high schools of Contra Costa county was $141.15 less in 1923-1924, when it was $549.59, than the 1925-1926 figure of $691.04.

In this study high school pupils were taken to include all pupils in grades nine to 12 inclusive, whether in junior, senior or regular four year high schools.

Contra Costa county ranked ninth from the highest in total bonded indebtedness for high schools, while on a per student in average daily attendance basis the county ranked eleventh.

Total bonded indebtedness for high schools, the Taxpayers' association finds, has decreased in 28 counties. The burden per pupil in average daily attendance has decreased in 35 counties. Los Angeles county showed the greatest decrease in total bonded debt, 1923-1924 over 1925-1926, of $6570,000. In seven counties, Alpine, Del Norte, Mono, Plumas, San Benito, Sierra and Trinity, no bonds for high schools were outstanding in either years.

B. C. HEACOCK TRACTOR CO. PRESIDENT

SAN FRANCISCO, June 24.—UP—Election of B. C. Heacock as president of Caterpillar Tractor company, decision to concentrate tractor manufacture at the Peoria, Ill., plant and conclusion of a plan to make San Leandro, the center for research work, was announced here today immediately following a meeting of the company's board of directors.

Heacock, who has been interested in the tractor industry for more than 10 years and vice president of the Caterpillar company since 1925, was chosen at the suggestion of R. C. Force, whom he succeeded to the presidency. Force becomes chairman of the executive committee.

Two of five models now being offered by the company have been manufactured at the San Leandro plant. The announcement, made by Pierce, Fair and company, fiscal agents for Caterpillar Tractor company, said it is intended to transfer their manufacture to the larger Peoria factory before the end of the current year.

"This will effect marked economies of operation by reason of the quantity production possible at the one point, and will also permit more frequent direct carloads shipments from Peoria to western dealers," it said.

Selection of San Leandro for the research division "has been due not only to the plant facilities which are being made available there, but also because of the exceptional all year opportunities for field tests and experimentation which exists in California."

PARAMOUNT ON PARADE GREAT FILM PLAY

Probably the greatest collection of brand new song hits ever gathered together in one sparkling screen production will be heard when Paramount's talking, singing, dancing, laughing festival of the stars, "Paramount on Parade," opens its two days run at the Fox-California theater tomorrow.

Two of the numbers, "Sweepin' the Clouds Away" and "Any Time's the Time to Fall in Love," are already sweeping the country via the radio. The former song is one of the Maurice Chevalier numbers in "Paramount on Parade"; the second is sung by Charles (Buddy) Rogers and Lillian Roth.

Jack Oakie and Zelma O'Neal sing "I'm in Training for You" another lively song hit, and the rousing ballad, "Let Us Drink to the Girl of My Dreams" is rendered by a world-famous group of actors Richard Arlen, Mary Brian, Virginia Bruce, Gary Cooper, James Hall, Philip Holmes, David Newell, Joan Peers and Fay Wray.

Chevalier also sings "All I Want Is Just One Girl," and is mimicked by Mitzie Green. Clara Bow sings "True to the Navy." Nancy Carroll introduces a great dance tune, "Dancing to Save My Soul." Ruth Chatterton's contribution is "My Marine," a sentimental ballad with a theme like "My Man." For fun, Helen Kane croons "What Did Cleopatra Say?" and Jack Oakie, Skeets Gallagher and Leon Errol are convulsing, rendering "We're the Masters of Ceremony." Harry Green sings "I'm Isadore, the Toreador."

Dennis King, of "Vagabond King" fame sings a Russian love song, "Nichavo" and the sensational Italian tenor, recently brought to this country by Paramount, Nino Martini, is heard in "Song of the Gondolier."

Many of the interludes are filmed in Technicolor. Comedy, drama, romance and music are cleverly interspersed. And the whole is blended into a joyous, intimate entertainment festival, "something new on the screen."

Ladies Love Brutes Will End Tonight

Clara Bow, Ruth Chatterton and Mary Brian. These are some of the charming ladies of the screen with whom Fredric March has been in love. Now he has a new affinity for the purpose of film entertainment. She is Mary Astor of the classic features and raven-black hair.

March and Miss Astor provide the supporting leads for George Bancroft in his newest Paramount release, "Ladies Love Brutes," which ends tonight at the Fox-California theater.

"Ladies Love Brutes" is the story of the fortunes of a red-blooded, two-fisted, structural steel worker who becomes such a success at his trade that he sets up in business for himself as a building contractor. He quickly finds that his business will only expand in direct ratio to his popularity in social circles and so he tries to become a success in the social life of the big town.

The manner in which Bancroft mixes fists with manners provides the basic stuff for this thrill-packed tale of American life.

The play is based on an original stage production, "Pardon My Glove" by Zoe Akins. The adaptation was written by Waldemar Young and Herman J. Mankiewicz. Rowland V. Lee, director of "The Wolf of Wall Street" was the megaphone. The cast includes Stanley Fields, David Durand, Freddie Burke, Fredrick, Ferike Boros, Margaret Qaimby, Lawford Davidson, Claud Allister and E. H. Calvert.

Also on the program is Ford Sterling in "Fatal Forceps."

LOST BOYSCOUT RETURNS SAFE AND SOUND

BANNING, June 24.—UP—A soft white bed in a Banning hotel and an occasional drink of chicken broth and milk spelled luxury for Harold Johnson, 12-year old Boy Scout tonight.

The boy was back in civilization after being lost in the rugged San Jacinto range since late last Thursday when he became separated from 30 Boy Scouts from Corona, Calif., while hiking in the mountains.

Today while 350 men, including three-score experienced Indian trackers were searching the lofty Mt. San Jacinto peak in "chain gang" style, the young Boy Scout suddenly appeared at a state fish hatchery on Snow Creek.

Tells Story
The youth had followed Snow Creek canyon from the very top of the mountain. Experienced forest rangers and mountaineers listened in amazement while the boy told of the feat, for it was the first time to anyone's knowledge that a white man ever went through Snow Canyon, one of the most precipitous and rocky in the entire San Jacinto range.

The youth had been without food since last Friday, but had secured water from Snow Creek. "I didn't get very hungry," he said. "But I could do with a bit of food. I wasn't scared, although I did get a little lonesome."

Study Scouting
The boy smiled a little as he told Ban Brandt, superintendent of the hatchery, that he intended to study his Scouting lore very hard in the immediate future.

"I didn't have any matches," he explained, "and I hadn't been a Scout long enough to know how to build a fire without them. I didn't get cold because I had my blanket and piled leaves and brush over me at night."

Deputy Sheriffs said that his failure to walk in circles like many lost persons, proved his coolness in the trying experience.

Harold explained that also. "I knew that creek went down to some place, so I followed it," he said. "It was difficult sometimes to climb through the canyon, but I stayed near the creek."

A Banning deputy sheriff was asked to estimate how far Harold had traveled to the hatchery. "I would say 12 miles as the crow flies. I wouldn't even guess if you mean how far up and down."

The deputy declared the feat would have taxed a grown man. Physicians who examined young Johnson said the boy was tired, but in good physical condition. He was joined at Banning by his father, R. J. Johnson, Corona postmaster, and his mother.

A politician has described Mussolini as the greatest man in the world. In fairness to the Duce, however, it should be pointed out that he thought of it first.

Supreme Court To Decide On Sanhuber Story

LOS ANGELES, June 24.—UP—The veracity of an asserted confession of Otto Sanhuber, accused of slaying Fred Osterreich, a wealthy retired Milwaukee manufacturer shot down in his home here eight years ago, must be decided by a supreme court jury.

Superior Judge Carlos Hardy late today denied a series of defense motions to exclude the asserted confession, and other parts of testimony from the record of the Sanhuber murder trial.

In addition to leaving Sanhuber's alleged story to the grand jury for the jury's consideration, Judge Hardy also ruled that the body must reach a conclusion on whether or not District Attorney Byron Eltis promised Sanhuber immunity in return for the purported confession.

A defense motion to dismiss the charge against Sanhuber, the so-called "tattle lover" of Mrs. Osterreich, the widow, was also denied. Judge Hardy refused to instruct the jury for an acquittal verdict.

He ordered the defense to present the case at once.

Sometimes when a man is in the public eye, he's just a chunder.

Lloyd Damage Suit To Open

LOS ANGELES, June 24.—UP—Trial of the $1,000,080 damage suit brought by Mrs. Sadie Witwer, widow of H. C. Witwer, noted fiction writer, against the Harold Lloyd corporation for asserted infringement of copyright, was scheduled to open in federal court here tomorrow.

The suit involves profits derived from the motion picture "The Fresh Man," asserted by Mrs. Witwer to have been based on a story assertedly written by her late husband.

Among the witnesses to be called during the trial are the defendant, Harold Lloyd, famous movie comedian, Hal Roach, film producer, and Peter B. Kyne, famous author.

Indian Wins On Futures

BRANTFORD, Ont.—Because the Dominion government's annual interest payments to members of the Six Nations tribe of Indians were on a per capita basis, one Indian's claim for an extra allotment on the grounds that he was father of a new-born child, was allowed.

A check of the claim revealed that the new arrival had not been chronicled, although the Indian's wife was in a hospital. Two weeks later the Indian's claim was justified. A son was born.

Tobacco Don't Mix With Monkeys

MINOT, N. D.—Tobacco and monkeys don't mix, Mattie and Lindy, two monkeys in the Minot zoo, found out.

Mattie snatched a lighted cigar from a spectator, extinguished the lighted end, and, aided by Lindy, proceeded to consume the stogie. Several minutes later the two little animals were rolling and moaning in agony, but their keeper soon had administered the necessary antidotes.

Ledgerwood Suit Again Being Tried

MARTINEZ, June 24.—In the court of Superior Judge H. V. Alvarado, the second trial of the $11,100 damage suit of Mrs. Olive Ledgerwood of Richmond against her son, Albert, aged 19, was begun today.

The suit arose out of alleged injuries sustained by Mrs. Ledgerwood in an automobile accident near Ryde on January 3, 1929. Albert Ledgerwood was driving the car in which Mrs. Ledgerwood was riding.

Damages were denied at the first trial, when the court ruled that negligence must be shown. The appellate court later ruled that the law covering claims made by guests for injuries in automobile accidents was not retroactive and a new trial was ordered.

Soviet Foreman To Die For Wrecking Machines

TVER, U. S. S. R. M.—Because he attempted to spoil the machinery in a textile factory where he was foreman, Peter Ivanov has just been condemned to die by shooting as a counter-revolutionist.

Local Driver Faces Charges

Abe Sudderth, 621 Macdonald avenue, Richmond, was released from the El Cerrito city jail on receipt of $2000 bail yesterday, following his arrest on a charge of driving while under the influence of liquor.

Sudderth, who ascribed his alleged erratic driving to two glasses of beer, taken, according to police, to celebrate his 28th birthday, was arrested by Officer Floyd Gilbert, who declares Sudderth's car was weaving back and forth on San Pablo avenue.

Gilbert declared Sudderth's car narrowly missed several other cars in the heavy evening traffic.

Ford Acquires Revere Bell

QUINCY, Mass.—Henry Ford's penchant for collecting antiques recently resulted in his securing the 100-year old bell that formerly hung in the tower of the old Universalist church in Hingham. The bell was said to have been cast by a member of the family of Paul Revere.

Ford had to pay a middleman's profit, since the antique was bought by a local junk dealer when the Hingham edifice was razed.

Miss Campman has won several honors during the past few years by speaking in the Temperance Union school contests held here and at Loyal, Wis.

After the First Twenty-five Thousand Miles

THE VALUE of sound design, good materials and careful craftsmanship is especially apparent in the new Ford after the first twenty-five thousand miles. Long, continuous service emphasizes its mechanical reliability and economy of operation and up-keep.

As you drive the Ford through many months and years you will develop an increasing pride in its appearance and a growing respect for the substantial worth that has been built into it. From every standpoint—in everything that goes to make a good automobile—you will know that you have made a far-seeing, satisfactory purchase.

Wherever you go, you hear enthusiastic praise of the car and this significant, oft-repeated phrase—"I'm glad I bought a Ford."

A FORD owner in New York tells of a 13,000-mile trip across the United States and back in sixty days and says "the car was extremely economical to operate, comfortable and speedy." A grateful father tells how the Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield saved his wife and children from serious injury in an automobile collision.

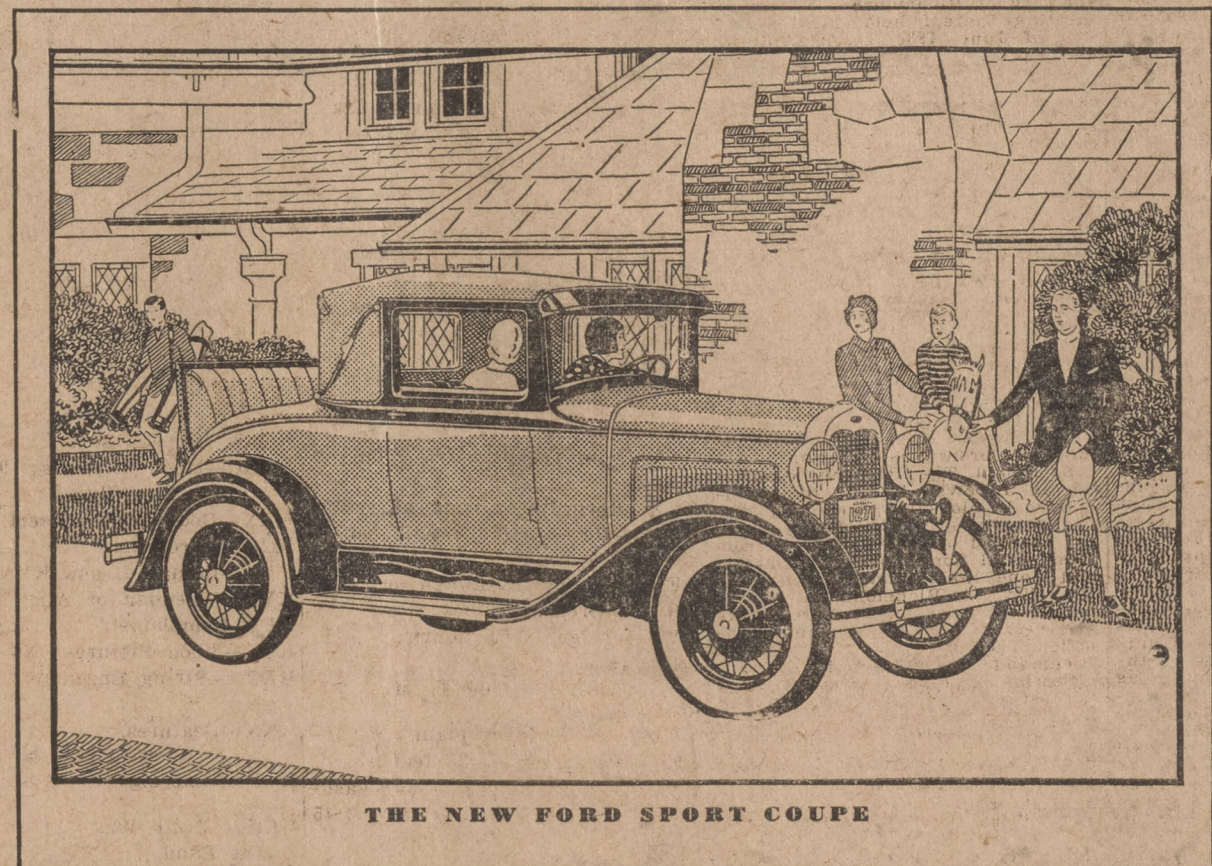

To test tires, a large company drove a new Ford day and night, for an average of 500 miles every twenty-four hours. It was still giving satisfactory service after 105,000 miles.

A Ford car that had fallen into Fernan Lake was submerged for twelve days before being raised. After a new battery and carburetor bowl were installed, it was driven back to Spokane under its own power.

Many police departments have written of the special advantages of the Ford in crowded traffic because of its alert speed, acceleration and ease of control. An increasing number of fleet owners are also purchasing the Ford because their cost figures have given conclusive proof of its economy of operation and up-keep.

In addition to important triumphs in Germany, France and Italy, the Ford won six out of seven leading places in a contest in Finland, first and second in the Rafaela races in Argentina, first and second in the run from Copenhagen-to-Paris-to-Copenhagen, three gold medals in England, first ranking in the durability test over the tortuous Amancaes road in Peru, and first place in the 1930 reliability run conducted by the Royal Automobile Club of Sweden.

This contest was an exceptionally severe test of endurance and sturdy construction because it was held in the dead of winter and covered 600 miles of steady running over snow-covered country roads and mountainous hills.

Even the Divorcees Deserve Fair Play

NOBODY, we think, can accuse this column of a lukewarm advocacy of the marriage that lasts of the desirability, feasibility and sheer satisfaction of living happy ever after. It's better than a duty—it's a pleasure! But one need not be a divorce propagandist to believe that the divorced—the persons unhappy enough to fall at marriage—should have fair play, even from the view-with-alarmers. After all, divorce is a matter of American law in every State except one is legal in most States, for several causes. Divorced men and women are not law-breakers against whom every man's hand should be turned. We hope it is not contempt of court to question the entire justice of Supreme Court Justice Harry E. Lewis's recent raking criticism of Brooklyn divorcees.

First, Justice Lewis blames them for not having children. Basing his strictures on a study of sixty-four undefended divorce cases tried before him, he figures that there was an average of only one child for every two families.

"I cannot help but reach the conclusion," he says, a trifle tactlessly, "that if our Brooklyn women had children, there would be more happiness and fewer divorces."

But how does this justice—himself, by the way, the father of exactly one child—know that the wives are to blame for the alleged childlessness of Brooklyn homes? It takes two to make a family. Quite as many young husbands as wives, confronted by the terrific economic struggle of the white-collar workers, shrink from bringing into the world children to whom they cannot give adequate care. For other reasons, the husband may be more responsible than the wife, if there are no children in the home.

Then, doesn't Justice Lewis realize that the comparatively small number of couples with children asking him for divorce is, socially speaking, a good thing? Suppose most would-be divorcees were the mothers of several offspring. Would not he—would not any disinterested observer—be distressed by the fact, since children are the worst sufferers from divorce?

But living girls are swell. . . . Now, are they not?

The Gift for the Hostess

EVERY housekeeper, especially the bride, will rejoice over the courtesy gift of a thoughtful guest who appreciates the niceties of homemaking by a practical selection. There are innumerable valuable and inexpensive trinkets which entice one to buy, yet the small things that can be used daily are to be commended. Have you ever thought of sending your hostess a good-looking case for a blanket or comforter, or a case for table linen and napkins, made of washable, du-proof material and conveniently equipped with a zipper fastening? Such a case comes in attractive designs and colors to harmonize with chosen color schemes.

Ruler Case

THERE will be no annoying questions of "who's got the yardstick or ruler?" if you have a case for either measuring stick hanging in some convenient place. Cut two four-inch strips of colored cloth a yard in length and sew the edges together with narrow rickrack braid, leaving an opening at the top through which to slip the sticks. Attach a ring at the top for hanging purposes.

He suggests a Scotch woodcock as a dish that should be more widely known. Keeping Youth in Your Eyes

THE eyes of youth are clear, bright. They have dancing lights in them. Their lids are smooth and firm. They are free of crowfeet, puffiness or bagginess.

If yours are the eyes of youth do everything within your power to preserve them. And if youth is going from you, eyes do everything within your power to bring youth back.

For next to your skin your eyes are your most important feature. They are the focal centers of expression, they are the barometers of your soul.

Try not to let your eyes grow tired. Short and frequent periods of rest throughout the day will save you from fatigue. The simple act of looking up from your work—as we have pointed out several times before—will rest the eye by changing the focus.

And now we want to tell you about some magical little pillows of rest and refreshment for your eyes and how they are made. You make a mixture of camomile three-fourths, and green tea one-fourth. And then you make some little bags of cheese cloth, two inches square. Next fill the bags with the tea mixture and sew up the open side.

To use them so that they will bring beauty to your eyes and a delicious feeling of rest, do this: Dip two bags in warm water, gently squeeze out excess water. Now lie down and relax. Close your eyes and place a bag over each eye and let the bags stay there until they become cool, when you simply dip them into warm water again and again place them over the eyes as before.

To get the utmost benefit from this treatment for tired dull eyes, lay do this: Before you put on the tea compresses, moisten the eyelids, upper lids and lower lids, with a rich nourishing cream or "skin food."

Anoint the temples with it too, you know, to keep down the cross-eyed lines. Once or twice a week is enough for this beautifying eye treatment.

But, of course, there will be times intervening between the eye treatments when the eyes are weary and heavy and must be pepped up out of suite for a sudden engagement. For such times and such occasions you will find the aforementioned treatment wonderfully effective.

THINK IT OVER

By Alfalfa Smith

ONE of the hardest problems in handling a child is that of teaching him to govern his temper, which is a form of FBAR.

Some children seem to be born with ungovernable tempers and the best thing to do is to take it out of them when they are young.

The world will not put up with a person who is cursed with a temper, for the world does not have to be burdened with him.

Use common sense, FIRMNESS and, above all, do not lose your temper in front of your child and perhaps you will save the Judges and courts of this land a lot of trouble.

Pump Ornaments

The opera pump seldom goes unadorned, its streamline accented by mesh, in silver, gilt, copper, bronze or gun metal. Evening ornaments of clumps of simulated crystal and rhinestones, narrowed in effect and very flat.

Dressing Up the Porch

COMFORT is the prime requisite of porch decoration. A wrought iron tiled-top table is a practical one in that it shows no marks of rust from gold drinks. The magazine rack placed at an advantageous position gives the lady reader a chance to enjoy herself with ease. Ash trays and stands should be sufficiently numerous that cigar and cigar butts are not tossed onto the lawn. Door-stops that masquerade as dogs or cats add their note of whimsicality and color, yet save many a person time and energy in opening or closing a door. Cushions galore in bright, gay colors for chairs and couches, and floor cushions add to the air of homeliness and comfort.

Charm goes hand in hand with ease. Add flower baskets and jars for the floor, hanging baskets full of ivy, ferns or blooming plants and such things to delight the eye.

J. Herman Seidlitz, famous expert and sportsman, to-day straightens out the heavyweight situation. Mr. Seidlitz needs no introduction to the public as an authority on flat affairs. For ten years he was the paperweight champion of the world. He refereed the David and Goliath fight and acted as timekeeper of the Thirty Years' War. He served as a desk sergeant of the Police Gazette and was the first man to box the compass with eight-ounce gloves. Mr. Seidlitz also acted as one of the judges of the St. Valentine's Day massacre in Chicago. No one is more eminently qualified than he, or him, to unravel the present heavyweight situation. In direct, forcible adjectives, at $6,000 per word, he analyzes the Sharkey-Schmeling aftermath to-day. J. Herman Seidlitz's article will be found below, unless the make-up man has made a serious mistake.

THE HEAVYWEIGHT SITUATION

I remember when Paavo Nurmi trimmed all our best runners, the financial experts said this feat was worth $25,000,000 in credit to Finland.

Driving to the Country o' Sundays

By Ann Roberts

DARK BLUE LINEN SUIT WITH STRIPED LINEN BELT AND GILET

FOR the city-bound person, Sunday is a dress-up day. How awful to have it robbed of its dressiness. It's the horrid fact, though, that plain clothes are smartest now, especially for those who motor to the country. And since that sort of a jaunt has become almost a universal occupation, it is about time we took up dressing for the part. Not fluffy chiffon dresses, not afternoon styles of any sort—tailored, strictly tailored, is the slogan. Somehow the pretty pretty picture lady doesn't seem to go with motor cars and dust and bright sunlight.

SILK SUIT. ITS PLEATINGS HANDLED IN A NEW WAY.

Suits and Their Neighbors

THEN the fresh linen blouses or those of soft chiffon and lace are lovely-looking when the cat is removed, and cool enough for any blistering weather that may be the week-end greeting.

HAT OF ROUGH STRAW WITH ONE OF THE WIDER BRIMS

The one-piece dress of flat crepe, long or short sleeved and tailored, is good for this Sunday-afternoon use. Say you had one of dark green, or a brown one. Either would be splendid. They can't be too pastel or they would never go in town.

Linen suits are so smart. The darker ones—blue, brown or natural—in these, too, are certainly good-looking for city wear and they go beautifully for the country. They can be as tailored as you wish, with patch pockets or belted with a papillon, both to be worn with fluffy white blouses or plainly tailored ones.

Black and white or dark blue and white checked gingham suits are new—for the country. They are nice to wear motoring out for a day and won't look too ridiculous when you reach the city precincts Sunday night.

Crepe silk dresses with capes are another suggestion for the purpose in question—those sleeveless ones with capes reaching the elbows. With long gloves in town they fit in very nicely and they are cool for the country.

Hats in Good Form

IF IT'S this dress with a cape you are choosing you can wear a fairly wide-brimmed hat, but the more tailored you get in your dressing, the narrower goes the brim until you reach the beret, which is always good, provided your eyes can stand the sun's brightness without any shading.

You can't get too large brimmed with your hat unless your car is a spacious one and you are practically its only back-seat passenger. Those wide brims have a terribly interfering way with them. Then it becomes a question of fitting the hat to the car as well as to the head, doesn't it? You must carry a coat. That's one of the nuisances of this kind of a day. But your travel coat will do if you have one—tweed, basket weave or wool crepe, with its fur collar or without. Even your spring coat with its cape is good provided it matches up at all—and it should if you are the good planner I hope you are.

Scarfs and Other Things

LEAVE off the scarf. Don't think that just because it is the country and a suit you must have one of these flowing things around.

SUIT OF FLAT CREPE GOOD FOR EITHER TOWN OR COUNTRY.

School nurse says all girls should know this

TALKING to a roomful of high school girls on personal hygiene, an experienced district nurse said: "One of the basic rules of health for girls is to keep the system functioning naturally at all times. Normal exercise and diet habits should be encouraged. But when necessary there's no harm in taking nujol, since it works mechanically and can't disturb the normal functions of any organ of the body. Particularly with girls, there are times when nujol should always be taken. Take a spoonful every night for a few days. It's a thoroughly safe and harmless method. It won't cause distress or gas pains or griping."

Nujol is different from any other substance. It contains no drugs or medicine. It can be taken safely no matter how you are feeling because it is so pure and harmless, and works so easily. Every woman should keep a bottle on hand. Every druggist has this remarkable substance. Get the genuine.

SHOW & SHOWS

Copyright 1929, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.
"Show of Shows," the Warner Bros. Vitaphone picture was the source for the material on which these stories are based.

SYNOPSIS
Through Queenie Quinn, Hollywood script girl, Leo Hamilton lands an extra role in "Show of Shows," the musical revue film. Leo finds life on a movie "lot" a fascinating pageant of stars and directors working on unique scenes. Queenie advises him to study the "inside" of picture production. After appearing in scenes with John Barrymore, Monte Blue, Irene Bordoni and others, Leo realizes that his engagement will soon end. On Queenie's suggestion he registers at a casting agency.

At such moments as he wasn't announcing the delights to follow, he might have been found in comedy scenes with Beatrice Lillie, Jack Mulhall, Chester Morris, Winnie Lightner, and others of the cast. The song he chose was "Your Love Is All That I Crave," a nostalgic chanter that proved admirably suited to his "wah-wah" delivery.

Thence Fay negotiated a quick plunge into low comedy in company with Beatrice Lillie, Louise Fazenda and Lloyd Hamilton. With all the unbending decorum that usually accompanies the rendition of dirges, this quartet proceeded to tear to tiny tatters some of the currently favored ballads. Leo found it all superb burlesque. He was especially entranced with Miss Lillie's unexcelled satiric skill. She impersonated a slightly headstrong lady who intended to sing

INSTALLMENT ELEVEN
One of the most amusing comedians of Hollywood was Frank Fay, an irrepressible red-haired wisecracker from Broadway. The range of Fay's talents was varied and extraordinary. At one moment he was able to clown with Sid Silver, his attitude one of infinite disgust for the current scheme of things. Then, without the slightest effort, he could lose himself in the bathos of a torch song and sell it to the toughest audience with ease.

In "Show of Shows" he performed as master of ceremonies. To this task he brought a vast talent. In his vaudeville days Fay had served in a similar capacity at the Palace on Broadway for eight consecutive weeks, which is a considerable feat when one remembers that with programs changing weekly he was obliged to perfect a new act with each succeeding performance. On the stage he was of course permitted to resort to ad libbing, but this resource was denied him in the picture, a medium in which letter-perfection was a stern necessity. In consequence, Fay was forced to busy himself between scenes perfecting the speeches wherewith he introduced the various numbers.

Fay moved all through the show, though the undertaking killed her. She stepped forward, unleashed his wildly hysterical note and blithely threw a look of forgiveness at the unhappy accompanist. She essayed the chore again and, after filling the world with the maddest of discords and shrill yelps, retired eminently satisfied that she had made a frightful amateur out of Jerkin. Her grave mien and her pathetic assurance raised her performance to the highest rank of comedy.

No less hilarious was this quartet's burlesque of "Your Mother And Mine," a song which found favor with sentimental motorists and front porch harmonizers. These harmonizers took a few liberties with the original lyric, to put it mildly, but since the end was laughter they had no fear of criticism. They appeared to find great fun in singing it, and the crew also gave every indication of liking it. Indeed, their gleeful howls occasionally threatened to break up the song.

AIRPLANE SOUTHERN CROSS SPANS ATLANTIC ON HOP

Cross as Capt. Charles Kingsford-Smith, its commander, was in some doubt whether his 1298 gallons of gasoline would take him all the way.

The report that the plane had passed Harbor Grace came via St. John's N. F.

A few minutes later the Nantucket Naval radio station reported that it had given radio bearings to the Southern Cross.

80 MILES PER HOUR

NEW YORK, June 24.—UP—A radio message picked up here at 6:00 p. m. (E.S.T.), broadcast as a "CQ" message to all stations from the Southern Cross, reported that the trans-oceanic plane's position was Latitude 49:04, N., Longitude 40:40 W., at 22:30, GMT (5:30 E.S.T.).

The course was 254 degrees from true north, or roughly south west by west.

The position indicated was approximately 550 miles east of north of Cape Race, Newfoundland, its landmark after the cross sea flight.

The message said the Southern Cross was making 80 miles an hour.

FLIERS CONFIDENT OF REACHING GOAL

NEW YORK, June 24.—UP—The stream-lined monoplane "The Southern Cross" fleet and powerful veteran of the skies, tonight was bearing its international crew westward across the Atlantic, hitherto an insurmountable barrier to heavier-than-air machines flying from Ireland to Continental America.

The radio of the craft chattered a story of progress, but of progress impaired by those implacable foes of trans-ocean airmen—adverse winds and fog. Nevertheless Captain Kingsford-Smith, the commander, and his three companions were racing over the water jump of 1,950 miles that ends with the craggy shores of Cape Race, Newfoundland.

Once the coastal outlines are sighted—and should the three motors of the Southern Cross continue to throb in victory over the elements—this event should take place before midnight, Eastern Standard Time, Kingsford-Smith intends to veer to the southwest and again fly out of sight of land until he reaches Maine.

Stop Unknown.
Journey's end is indeterminate. In the tanks of the Southern Cross, sturdy craft that already has conquered the Pacific on a westward flight, there may be sufficient fuel to permit a non-stop flight to New York. On the other hand, a descent at Old Orchard, Me., may be ordered. A third—and likely—alternative is refueling over or near Portland, Me., where a plane now is drawn up ready to soar aloft and pump new gasoline into the Southern Cross should the 1298 gallons on board at the take-off be near exhaustion.

Four nations contributed to the crew of the second oldest tri-motor plane in the world. Capt. Kingsford-Smith is an Australian. The co-pilot, Evert Van Dyk, is from the Netherlands. The navigator, John Patrick Saul, is a captain in the army of the Irish Free State. The wireless operator, John Stannage, is from South Africa.

Despite the tragic record of failure, despite pessimism occasioned by weather reports, despite the prospect of almost certain death should the Southern Cross fail to keep aloft and dive into the ocean's incessant chop, Capt. Kingsford-Smith and his companions were confident of success as they left Port Marnock at 4:25 a. m. today. (10:25 p. m. Monday, E. S. T.)

Over Sea

Nor was this confidence another name for foolhardiness. Kingsford-Smith knew his ship and he knew himself. Together they had fought and conquered a vast ocean in a 7,300 mile hop from California to Australia in a series of hops, two of which were longer than the present journey. Together they had fought it thru from Australia to London across Asia and Europe.

One hour and fifty minutes after the take-off, the silver-gray monoplane shot over the western edge of Ireland and away from the rising sun peering over Galway Bay. Soon it passed from sight and was well launched in its excursion over the sea.

Almost at once it was evident that the radio was to write a more ample story of a trans-ocean flight than in any of the previous feats of the air. There was a queer paradox in this employment of science because there were numerous evidences of a bow to superstition.

Carries Gifts

Kingsford-Smith carried with him a cigarette case and a pound sterling note that had crossed in the Bremen, gifts from Col. and Mrs. Fitzmaurice. There was also a talisman bestowed upon the commander by the residents of a religious community in Manchester. It was a silver-colored monoplane, similar to the Southern Cross, mounted on an ebony stand and bearing the inscription "Angels Guard Thee."

Thus fortified by symbols of the oldest philosophies and flying in a raft identified with all that is newest in transportation and communication, the fliers sped on through the long June day that would be lengthened by the fact that they were pursuing the sun in its course across the heavens.

Wireless signals were picked up by ships at sea and by stations on two continents. At times the messages stated only the position, and at other times weather conditions and the approximate speed were described. Again there would be crisp sentences such as "believe we will get through" and "would like a cigarette."

Over Ocean

Later a report reaching the London Evening Star put the air ship at 600 miles off the Irish coast at 7 a. m. (EST) and was traveling at a speed of 73 miles an hour.

At 8:40 a. m. the wireless operator of the United States liner America established radio communication with the plane and throughout the greater part of the day messages were intercepted frequently. At the time of the first report, the Southern Cross

Mrs. H. Langdon Denies Love For Former Husband

LOS ANGELES, June 24.—UP—Further testimony to show that Mrs. Helen O'Brien's love for Thomas O'Brien cooled long before she fell in love with the film comedian, Harry Langdon, today was made a part of the actor's defense to an $11,500 collection suit filed against him by O'Brien.

The testimony that in 1926 Mrs. O'Brien decided never to live with her husband again, came from Mrs. Nan Collins, a motion picture casting director.

"She came to me to try to get into pictures," Mrs. Collins said. "She told me she had left her husband for good."

O'Brien is suing Langdon to force payment of two notes for $11,500 which the actor gave him, with $15,000 in cash, to stop a threatened $25,000 alienation of affections suit.

Langdon has testified that he only wanted to prevent unfavorable publicity against him because of film contracts, claiming O'Brien never really had a claim against him.

Bell Woman Pensioned

STOCKHOLM—Sweden's last woman ringer of church bells, Augusta Anderson, who for 35 years has pulled the ropes in the tower of the old Katarina church here, has been pensioned and electric machinery will now be installed.

Since 1895, Miss Anderson has attended to the tolling of the bells and only been absent once, two years ago, on account of illness. The first ten years it was her duty to toll the bells on Sundays only, but later she became head bell-ringer, with nine other women to assist her. The church has four bells, the largest of which needs six persons to swing it. The bells are rung every day at eight in the morning and at five in the afternoon.

was some 800 miles out and flying through fog.

A little later the craft was flying low, apparently had temporarily evaded fog, and had found the ocean "like a mill pond" by noon (EST) the America received this report.

Fog Bad.

"Southern Cross, 5 p. m. GMT. 50:40 North, 34:40 West, Course 261. (Indicating a position approximately 1,050 miles off Galway. Speed 80 miles an hour. Everything fine. Wish we could get out of this beastly fog. Feels like we were closed in so much."

A later message giving the position of the plane as 625 miles off Cape Race at 4:30 p. m. EST, indicated that this hope was over-optimistic.

And so it went. The America was not alone in plucking out of the air the crackling signals emanating from the Southern Cross. The S. S. Minnequa, for instance, intercepted reports of its progress. So did a number of stations on land.

Rain Falling

As land neared fear for the aviators' safety dimmed proportionately. The Southern Cross is not an amphibian and although Kingsford-Smith hoped it would float if the tanks were emptied at sea, there was admittedly but little chance of its survival. Each flier had a pneumatic collapsible lifebuoy he could don in an emergency. Their food supplies are limited for each to six sandwiches, half a pound of chocolate, a quart of coffee, a square of cheese and a small amount of whisky.

Even should Newfoundland be reached, the plane would not have the most advantageous atmospheric conditions for further flight. From St. Johns, for instance, are reports of a slight fog and a moderate west wind off the coast. The local forecast for that point was clear and favorable.

The United States Weather Bureau reported conditions over the flight area mostly cloudy with southwest winds. The skies in New York today were overcast and rain was intermittent.

At The Races

PRESIDENT PAUL von HINDENBURG of Germany is an ardent racing fan. His picture was snapped at a Berlin race track.

Prisoners Shot In India Riot

RANGOON, BURMA, India, June 24.—UP—A dash for liberty cost 40 convicts their lives today as several hundred prisoners, some armed with rifles, killed six sentries and rushed the walls of the Rangoon central jail. Sixty convicts were wounded.

Quiet had been restored tonight, military police guarding the jail. The attempted break came at noon. Prisoners employed in the workshop were on their way to the mess room when they attacked their guards and rushed the jail yard.

They fought their way to the outer gate where half a dozen armed sentries battled with the desperate men.

A hurry call was sent for reinforcements and military police arrived, surrounding the jail. As prisoners clambered to the top of the walls, they were shot down by the police—a second more deadly wall of men through whom they could not pass.

The break was said to have been caused by a rumor that the Simon report advised Britain to cease ruling India and Burma.

Newspapers relate the unsuccessful attempt to kidnap an 18-year old girl in her own home. You'd think any sensible kidnaper would know better than to look for her there.

New Aide

CAPT. CHARLES RUSSELL TRAIN, who commanded the U. S. S. Utah, has been named naval aide to President Hoover.

Parking Signs Being Moved

Work has been started on Macdonald avenue moving the posts marking the corner limits for parking. The posts will be moved nearer the corners 6 feet allowing room for one more car to park. The California Automobile association is doing the work.

Louis Trolese To Go East

Louis Trolese, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Trolese of 700 Twenty-second street, will leave next week to take up his duties with the Radio corporation of America at Camden. Trolese is a graduate of Richmond Union high school. He graduated from the University of California college of electrical engineering this spring.
